

Dear Parents/Carers,

On Monday 16th November we will be participating in this year's Odd Socks Day to mark the beginning of Anti Bullying Week. The day is designed to be fun whilst encouraging people to express themselves, celebrate their individuality and what makes us all unique!

All we are asking all children to come into school in the brightest, mismatched socks they can find and let's all come together to raise awareness and stand against bullying!

Thank you for your continued support

Mrs A. Askew
